The hour of 12 o'clock having arrived, the Governor transmitted to the Senate, by Mr. Catlin, his private secretary, the following message :

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA. }

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives :

You assemble at a period free from all immediate causes of high political excitement, and favorable to a calm consideration of the duties that devolve on you as the legislators of a free people. Peace and domestic quiet in the political affairs of the State in its internal relations in matters connected with the federal government, as well as our relations with our sister States, and domestic prosperity, relieve me of the necessity of making an elaborate disquisition on the affairs of State. We find the people of Alabama in the enjoyment of a high degree of prosperity unsurpassed by that of any other State of the confederacy, or any other government, past or present—presenting another example in proof of the correctness of the position that the true policy of a free government, is to govern as little as possible ; that to insure individual and general prosperity, is to leave every citizen the fullest discretion to select and pursue, each for himself, the road to fortune, which his own judgment and inclination may dictate—untrammelled by levies and taxes, or contributions for the advancement of any particular class of enterprise or interest. The financial affairs and credit of Alabama now present a state of facts in happy contrast to that in which they stood when some of us entered public life, and in happy contrast with many of the States, which then, in pecuniary position and character, occupied a much more favorable standing than that held by us. By a firm and steady course of patient endurance and economy, the greater portion of an enormous debt—incurred by financial empirics and a departure from the legitimate purposes of government—has been liquidated ; and the credit of Alabama not only sustained untarnished, but restored to that high position which it should be our first duty to maintain for it. By a steady resistance to the policy of over-zealous enthusiasts and interested incorporations, we have been enabled to avoid that load of responsibility and debt which has been incurred by older and greater States, and which will, for generations, rest upon their people and retard their progress. The correctness of the principle of an entire separation of the affairs of State from private enterprises and speculations, and leaving to individual energy and private capital the construction of such works as the facilities of commerce may require, is being established by time, and the experience of other States, to such a degree as to give us abundant cause for congratulation that we have been able to resist a popular error, though subjecting ourselves to the taunts and reproaches of those who adopted a different policy. It is well for States and individuals to be "behind the spirit of the age," when that spirit impels us only to embarrassment and bankruptcy. When we see works of magnificent extent and grandeur, constructed at a cost almost too great for belief, pronounced, as State works, failures, and thrown upon the market for the purpose of relieving the people of the expense of keeping them up, we have abundant cause to be thankful that we are not in a like predicament, and that we took warning in time. In another State, the rates of taxation have to be increased by millions to support public works which their projectors were fondly persuaded would relieve the people from all taxes, and even furnish finances for the carrying on of the State government. Other States, more identical with us in resources and interest, have incurred an immense load of responsibility, which will have to be increased at ruinous rates, before they will be able to test the value of works for which they have departed from the safe and conservative principles of government. I hold that the Constitution invests the legislative department with no authority for involving the people of the State with pecuniary obligations for the promotion of any class or particular interest. The only just object of taxation is to meet the wants of the government, economically administered, and to secure the ends of public justice. Whenever a government extorts more than is absolutely necessary for these purposes, it becomes an oppression. Unfortunately for us, the speculative financiering of the past imposes on the people of Alabama a heavy burden of taxation to preserve the honor of the State. Our first duty is to adopt and continue such policy as shall most speedily, and with the least degree of oppression to the industry of the country, pay what we now owe. It is a dangerous experiment for the State to have her citizens under pecuniary obligations. It leads to a formation of interest for a continuance of those obligations. The idea of lending whatever surplus there might be in the State treasury, as a more profitable investment than that the money should lie idle in the treasury, was once favorably received by the people, but experience teaches us the fallacy of that policy. There is no necessity for allowing a surplus to be created in the State treasury. The nearer we can adopt the principles of the independent treasury bill, in the finances of the State, the better for the people who have the taxes to pay. By a constant application of all the means we may have to a liquidation of the State debt, the possibility an accumulation of any surplus is avoided. When that is not the case, the remedy is readily found in the reduction of the rate of taxation.

The loans granted to several railroad companies, by acts of the last Legislature, have not been applied for on the terms laid down by the Legislature. Had application been made, however, the funds were not in the treasury for such a purpose, other than the bills or notes of the State bank and branches, long since in a state of liquidation; and, in the opinion of the attorney general—in which opinion I fully concur—the re-emission of such bills or notes, to pass as money, is prohibited by the constitution of the United States.

The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company having failed to apply for a renewal of the loan made them of four hundred thousand dollars, on the terms of the act of January 12th, 1856, and failing at maturity of the loan to pay the same agreeably to the terms of the act making the original loan, instructions were issued from this department for the collection of the same. The company, by litigation, resisted the payment of the debt; and it was not until a decision was had by the supreme court, early in the present year, that any further steps could be taken for the collection of that debt. I was of the opinion that it would be more likely to enure to the safety of the debt and the public interest, not to force a sale of the bonds of the company, or to resort to extreme measures with the personal security. As the Legislature favored an extension of the loan on a better basis of security, it was deemed best to collect by installments, a portion of the debt, amounting to one hundred thousand dollars—which, with the interest due, has been paid. It is now in the province of your honorable body to say whether the debt shall be fully liquidated by regular installments, or collected at once in full. I believed, to make the debt “perfectly safe” to the State, it was proper to collect a part of the money, and to hold on to all the security. The road is now in good running order to such an extent, and doing so large and profitable a business, that it can doubtless meet the balance due without particular inconvenience, by installments, in the next few months. In conducting the suit against the company, I was necessarily compelled to employ counsel for the State. I engaged the services of M. A. Baldwin and John A. Elmore, Esqrs., who faithfully discharged the duties of attorneys to the State. They are, of course, entitled to liberal compensation for their services, which it becomes the province of the Legislature to provide for.

I conceive that the time has come, when it becomes the honor and dignity of a sovereign State, no longer to tolerate the re-emission of the bills of the defunct State bank and branches, or the longer circulation of the same as a part of our currency. I most respectfully and earnestly urge, that all the bills or notes now in the hands of the State treasurer, or any other agent or officer of the State, be destroyed by burning; that an act be passed requiring the same to be done by the State officers, monthly; and that the State treasurer, and other agents to be appointed, be required to redeem in coin, or bills of specie paying chartered banks of this State, whatever of such bills as are yet unredeemed. As a part of the policy of closing up the calamitous results of our experiment in State banking, I recommend the discontinuance of the office of State Commissioner and Trustee to wind up and settle the affairs of the banks in liquidation, and a disposition of whatever assets may yet remain uncollected. The very faithful officer who filled that position advised, two years ago, that the good of the State no longer required the continuance of that commission; in which I fully concurred. I presume there can be much less reason now for a continuance of the office than two years ago. Too long already has been kept up the useless expense of keeping open the several offices at the location of the old banks, for the benefit of the few persons who had not yet discharged their debts to the State. By publication of the list of debtors to the State, and offer of sale and compromise, some of those who, in time of pecuniary embarrassment, were unable to meet their engagement, but are now in the enjoyment of affluence, may be induced to come forward and pay something towards the relief of the State treasury from burdens imposed by their misfortunes or improvidence. A sale of the unavailable assets will, doubtless, produce something to the State, while a continuance of the present system may only incur charges to the State. The financial affairs of the State, so far as the payment of foreign interest and bonds is concerned, can be conducted as they have been heretofore, with promptness and ability, through the agency of the able head of the Bank of Mobile, and without cost to the State. By a strict application of all the means of the State to the payment of interest and the redemption of the yet outstanding bonds, in a few years the State will occupy the proud position of having liquidated in full the immense debt, which, but a few years since, oppressed her people, without for one moment having failed to discharge her utmost obligation.

From the report of the commissioners appointed to examine and report upon the affairs of the chartered banks of this State, it appears that they are in a prosperous condition. The management has been faithful and honest, both to the stockholders and the public. It is a matter of regret, however, that provision has not been made by the different banks with each other, to make their notes circulate at par in all parts of the State. I conceive it to be my duty to call the attention of the legislative department to an anomaly in the principle of banking, adopted by this State, in the case of the Northern Bank, located at Huntsville. By an amendment of the charter of that bank, it is permitted to do business upon, and pay out at its counter, the notes and bills of any and all banks of other States. By this privilege it is allowed to put into circulation any amount of bank notes, for which no security is provided, and no specie required to redeem; nor is the bank bound, in case of failure of any of the foreign banks—whose agents it may have become—to receive one dollar of the notes it so throws into circulation, in payment of any debt due it. The chief argument in favor of the establishment of banks in the State was, that the circulation of bank notes, as a currency, would be placed under the eye and authority of our government and laws; and instead of a currency of which the people could know but little, we should have one redeemable at the counter of the banks of the State. No other bank in the State has sought such an extraordinary privilege, and departure from all sound principles of banking. The profits of the bank seem to be large, and I have been able to discover no reason why such a departure should be tolerated. I therefore urge that the bank be required to transact business, in that respect, under its original charter. It is the more demanded, as bank extension seems to have been carried in other States to the utmost extent of safety.

It is believed that many of the Insurance companies, which have, in such numbers, been chartered of late years, have not been established for the legitimate purpose of insurance against dangers of fire and sea, and other casualties, but for the purpose of becoming the agencies of foreign banks, dealing in the usurious discount of bills and notes, and are the active instruments of throwing into circulation an immense amount of the notes of foreign banks, for the redemption of which no funds are provided; in fact, becoming banking companies, instead of what their title professes. Some have gone so far as to issue small bills, which, under pretext of being certificates of bills of deposit, are intended to circulate as money. The toleration of such an evasion of the intention of the acts of incorporation, should not longer be submitted to. It is injustice to the chartered banks of the State, and to citizens who loan their capital subject to laws on that subject. If, for the want of proper scrutiny, the charters contain provisions permitting these things, it is the duty of the Legislature to amend or repeal such charters. It may be insisted by the advocates of "vested rights," that a charter, once obtained, cannot be altered or repealed. Such a doctrine is entirely irreconcilable with that of State sovereignty. The power of any past Legislature to bind this, and all future legislative bodies, to any particular policy, financial or otherwise, can nowhere be pointed out in the State constitution, and is wholly inconsistent with the theory of our government. Suppose some privilege had been conferred, years ago, which experience had demonstrated to be destructive to the interests and rights of the people, it would hardly be maintained that the present Legislature could not correct the mistakes of judgment or principles of such past legislation. It is not in the power of a legislative body to surrender, by its acts, any portion of the sovereignty of a State. Every chartered institution or company, which has applied for and obtained any grant from the State, has done so with the knowledge, that the inherent power vested in the sovereignty granting the privileges conferred by such charters, to alter or annul the same whenever the public welfare should demand it; and the charter is necessarily received subject to that reserved right. As a matter of public faith and justice, the power to amend or rescind such chartered rights, should be exercised only when the public good demanded it, or when the charter is made the means of transcending the obvious intention of it, or was not obtained in good faith. The spirit of combining, in privileged incorporations, for the transaction of the most common affairs of life, is of a dangerous tendency; and has been, in past legislation, too readily given into, without proper scrutiny for the public good.

The propriety of a modification of the laws on the subject of the hire or use of money, is demanded by the more enlightened spirit of the times in which we live. The advocates of the present system of usury laws, find their only argument in the ridicule and prejudice promoted by the great English poet, rather than in any sound logical reasoning. The most unbounded discretion belongs to any person in the conduct and management of his own private affairs, and on all subjects of traffic, save the hire of money. No control is attempted in the purchase or use of articles of extravagance, and doubtful value, and even of known want of value. But for the use of the standard of value, by which great commercial transactions are accomplished, legal trammels are thrown around the free operations of every citizen, greatly to the detriment of all parties. Fair competition in the use of capital is prevented; and many capitalists, who are not disposed to receive more than the law authorizes, are driven from the market. The borrower can only find accommodation from those who have no such scruples; and who are compelled to charge the honest borrowers a higher rate of interest, in order to make up for what probably may be lost by dishonest ones in legal subterfuges. In this country, no law should find a place on our statute books not sustained by public opinion and the highest sense of commercial and individual honor. The system of trammeling the use of money is but a relic of the barbarous ages, unsustained by reason or justice; and by daily evasion, a dead letter in a great degree—serving only to embarrass the free exercise of judgment and discretion in one's business relations, and of advantage only to dishonest debtors. The necessity of a legal rate of interest on debts contracted without any agreements as to interest, is, of course, admitted; but, in the judgment of our best commercial writers and men, the system of usury laws, if intended for the protection of borrowers, defeats its intended purpose.

The toleration of the sale of lottery tickets, or the permission of that species of gambling, has a most pernicious influence upon the public morals and the pecuniary interest of the people of the State. The desire for the acquisition of sudden wealth, proposed to be gratified by these gambling concerns, is so captivating and alluring, that but few resist it. It has been the misfortune of Alabama, for a commendable and charitable purpose, to tolerate one lottery. The result has been such as not to justify a repetition of the experiment. By a decision of the supreme court, it appears that the present statute against the sale of lottery tickets, is not broad enough to secure the end proposed. An amendment of the law on that subject is, therefore, recommended.

The school law, which was adopted as an experiment, inaugurating a scheme of free education, needs amendment and modification, and a simplification of its machinery. It appears to me that the expense of a county superintendent might be avoided by constituting the probate judge and the county commissioners, in the several counties, as a body, to act in place of that officer. The appropriation should be applied more on the principle of equity amongst the scholars throughout the State. Severe scrutiny should be exercised in regard to the use of unsound text-books, in every school in the State. Unfortunately, as yet, our school books and teachers are imported from a community in which the prejudices of ignorance and fanaticism, on subjects of vital importance to us, are propagated. By a prohibition of all books inculcating improper sentiments to be taught in the South, we may soon insure the possession of text-books, the works of our citizens; and build up institutions of learning among us, where the unwholesome heresies of fanaticism will not be inculcated in the minds of youth. It is believed that the cause of education, both in common schools and the higher institutions of learning, is now in a more promising condition than at any period of our history. It is greatly to be desired, by every patriotic citizen, that the time will soon come when the youth of the South will receive their education through our schools and colleges at home, and wholly cease to patronize the hot-beds of bigotry and abolitionism, now sustained by southerners, to their own shame.

The act approved the 13th of February, 1856, requiring the circuit court judges to rotate throughout the State, was approved in deference to the opinions of legal gentlemen; but experience has shown that the act is by no means a good one. At the present compensation, it is an unreasonable increase of labor and expense upon the judges—taking them for a much longer period from their families, and deducting largely from the means of their support. Practically, the act annuls the constitutional provision, that each circuit shall elect its own judge; for, by its provision, the people of each circuit elect a judge for all the circuits as much, or more, than for themselves. Without assuming that the present system is, by any means, the best that has been devised, it is but just that those who elect judicial officers of the highest attainments should have the benefit of such selection, and the contrary.

The want of a proper military spirit, and the absence of any general organization throughout the State, are lamentable facts, the correction of which is a matter demanding the considerate action of the Legislative body. The long enjoyment of peace, and too high a degree of confidence in our military capacities and resources, have rendered us indifferent to that cultivation and training in the military art, which every free people should be solicitous to cherish and keep alive in the hearts of the young men of the Republic. The times are not yet, when “the nations of the earth shall have war no more;” though such would seem to be the conclusion by the people of this State, and some others, where it is most important that a strict military organization should be kept up. Save the few volunteer companies, the military system of the State is a matter of ridicule, unworthy the name of an organization. The whole system should be abolished, and a plan of volunteer organization inaugurated in every county in the State, which would become a nucleus around which, in case of necessity, the militia of the State could be soon rallied. Under the present order of militia affairs, we lose annually a large amount of public arms that the State is entitled to from the Federal Arsenals. No full and regular report is made of the strength of the militia. Some mode, differing from the present, should be adopted for that purpose. By making it the duty of the tax assessors to make a list of all persons liable to be enrolled for military service, the evil might, perhaps to a great degree be corrected. The condition of the public arms is such as to require some legislation on the subject. The arms are scattered over the State—in many cases in so exposed a condition as to be liable to be lost, or to fall into the hands of improper persons. A State arsenal should be constructed, or procured, at or near the seat of government, and it made the duty of the Quarter Master General to have collected, and put in good order, every piece of the public arms belonging to the State, not in the hands of a regularly organized military company.

It is a matter of regret, that cases of popular execution, without the forms of law, have occurred in the State, of late years, which cannot be reconciled with any principle of reason or propriety—assuming more the character of passion and violence, than the austere execution of deliberate, public justice. The frequency of such summary administrations of punishment, no matter how well merited, is calculated to bring the authority of law into contempt.

The people having refused to call a convention to remodel the Constitution, or to form a new one, the duty devolves on you, by the slower process of amendment, to correct the present incongruous Constitution—made so by amendments heretofore made to it—and to remedy its defects and omissions. I conceive the legal intelligence of the Legislature will find but little difficulty in reconciling conflicting parts, and supplying clauses that are imperatively demanded, and submitting the same, in a plain proposition to the people for ratification.

It will be seen by the report of the inspectors of the Penitentiary, that the health of the convicts has been good. The prison has now as many convicts as there are cells; but a portion of these convicts are females, confined in a separate part of the building, not in cells, and a considerable number are necessarily in the hospital—so that any deficiency of cells is more apparent than real. A large number of United States convicts, committed for riot or mutiny on merchant vessels, and not for a long duration, will relieve the prison soon by expiration of the time for which they have been sentenced. Too much of the room of the prison has been taken up by convicts of this character, for offences not committed on the soil. The financial affairs of the State are not such as to invite the expenditure of money for the construction of prisons for such purposes. At least, the State, for such expenditure, is entitled to remuneration from the Government of the United States. Considerable sums have been paid by the disbursing officers of the United States Government to the lessees of the Penitentiary, without authority of law—and the whole amount so paid is justly due to the State treasury.—The Federal officers have no right to know the lessees, only as employees of the State government. By the terms of the lease of the State prison, the “lessees take the labor of the convicts as full consideration for the lease, without any payment to be made by the State.” [See Code, secs. 3868 and 3940.] The United States convicts are to be received and employed as the State convicts. The policy of hiring so large a body of men, though criminals, to individuals, to be employed as their interests may dictate, is of more than doubtful propriety. It is a virtual abandonment of the idea of reformation urged by the advocates of that system of punishment—with no plea to recommend it, but its supposed economy, in which the ends of public justice are liable to be defeated, by the desire to make money and the practice of favoritism and oppression. The plan was resorted to, to avoid the difficulty of the internal management of the prison, and drafts on the treasury—both of which might have been obviated by the appointment of proper persons as Wardens; and the State authorities have retained entire control of the whole subject, more in consonance with the principles of philanthropy and public justice. The fear of confinement in the Penitentiary is not sufficient to deter bad men from the commission of the greatest of crimes. The number of convicts daily increasing in the Penitentiaries of the different States, proves that the system is but a poor preventive to the commission of offences—in fact, a failure. Our laws need modification or amendment, or the construction of new prisons. A return to the death penalty, for the worst offences—and a different punishment for the lesser, now punished by sentence to the Penitentiary—would relieve the public from supporting numbers of the vicious in institutions of this kind.

The proposition to exempt, to a limited extent, negro property from sale under execution, which has been discussed of late years—and which has received the approval of one of the States of the South most interested in that species of property—is entitled to the gravest consideration of the Southern legislator and statesman. Opposition to such a law originates more from the peculiarity and novelty of it, than from any sound reasoning against it. The day of timid councils has gone by. Circumstances which surround us; the whole aspect of the political and economical affairs of our country, demand bold and decided action. The highest conservatism is often found in the most prompt and decisive measures. The continued prosperity of the South will be greatly advanced by the more diffuse distribution of slave property. By the exemption of one slave, at least, from the process of the law, and her increase, if female, the investment of money in that kind of property will be preferred to all others. The ownership of slaves will become more general; the benefits of the institution more generally felt, acknowledged, and defended. In a political point of view, the advantages are too apparent to need illustration by argument. As a measure of policy, which the individual prosperity of the citizen is to be promoted, it affords a more secure investment to the person just struggling to rise, than any that has been presented; safer than stocks, which may depreciate, and more than productive than lands. It becomes so identified with the owner, that it is the last to be alienated. Experience teaches us that when a family, before indigent circumstances, once becomes possessors of this kind of property, the regular progression to wealth is uninterrupted—acting as a wholesome incentive to further industry and economy. In a philanthropic point of view, it recommends itself in an eminent degree. By the distribution of slaves into a greater number of white families, the direct contact of the owners and owned is increased, mutual attachments thereby formed, and the personal comfort and happiness of the slave secured, both in his home and its permanency. As a matter of domestic obligation to families, it is demanded. The drudgery of the household is more destructive to the health of Southern women than in countries where slavery does not exist. Objections may be urged to the passage of such a law by a belief that it will affect the rights of creditors—an objection of equal force against all other laws for the protection of families. The law would, of course, be prospective in its operations. That it may affect the credit system, to a certain extent, is really no objection, but a recommendation. The facility with which debts may be contracted, is a great injury to the happiness and prosperity of our people. The effect of such a provision cannot be otherwise than wholesome in all its details.

To the citizen who has been observant of the character of the legislation of the State, it is a matter of surprise and regret to see that the large proportion of enactments consist of special, local, and class legislation, of no general importance to the country; and that in the voluminous acts of the last few years, with the exception of the Code—which is but a re-enactment of previous statutes, with some modifications, so little can be found, calculated to benefit the people at large, or to reflect credit upon those engaged in the responsible duties of legislation. Hundreds of pages of acts for every variety of incorporation, the existence of which is never realized beyond the statute books, are to be found; and legislative pardons and special privileges, wholly without constitutional authority and of doubtful propriety. Having been so unfortunate as to be compelled, from a sense of official duty, to dissent from so much of the legislation of this character, I hope whatever of the kind may be considered necessary, may be reserved for the consideration of the worthy citizen who is soon to assume the responsibilities of this department.

I am unable to report any progress in the suit, in the Supreme Court of the United States, for the purpose of establishing the line between this State and the State of Georgia.

Since the adjournment of the Legislature, important political events have transpired in many parts of the world. The desolation of war, in one portion, has subsided into the quiet and blessings of peace. In another portion, the most cruel war is now carried on with the most sanguinary fury. Our extensive commercial relations, with the most remote parts of the world, cause us, of course, to be sensibly affected thereby.

The administration of the affairs of the Federal Government has passed from the hands of one Chief Magistrate to those of another; and though this has been peacefully done, the demonstration of public sentiment was such as to excite the most lively apprehension in the minds of those who hope for a peaceful continuance of the constitutional Union of the States. Whilst the people of the South rejoice at the defeat of that party which is warring upon the constitutional rights of the States, we cannot but be mindful of the fact that the division of parties, is daily assuming a more sectional character—unfavorable to the constitutional equality of the States composing the Federal Union, and of the Union itself. In the election of the present Chief Magistrate, we have a guarantee that the constitutional rights of every section of the Union will be respected. In a spirit of public justice, it becomes us to wait the developments of time, before we hasten to declare a want of that confidence which placed him in the high and responsible position which he now fills. Should that confidence prove to have been misplaced, it will but be the hastening of a political crisis, which many of the most faithful and watchful patriots believe to be “but a question of time:” and the duty, so long and often avoided by concession and compromise, be upon us, of electing, for ourselves, and posterity, the high and independent position of independent and sovereign States—or to renounce all pretensions to the character of a brave and manly people, and basely and tamely submit to the tender mercies of northern caprice and fanaticism. Unfortunately it is a weakness of our nature to put off the consideration of disagreeable subjects—though the end appears inevitable, and the necessity of finally meeting the difficulty, imperative. The agitation of the question of slavery by the people of the Northern States—properly having no business with the matter—though it has been regularly progressive, and has grown to a threatening importance—has not been without advantages to the people of the South, and to the enlightenment of the civilized world. The time was but recent, when the Southern statesman only made apologies for the existence of such a state of political affairs, and declared that he could offer no corrective. Now, however, since agitation has caused a thorough investigation of the subject, the institution is defended and upheld most successfully upon political, social, moral, and religious grounds. It is shown not only to be the best condition of society, where it can be maintained, but that it is absolutely essential to the development of the rich resources of tropical climes, and the advancement of the trade and commerce of the world. Even in England, where fanaticism has so long ruled the policy of the government on this question, a great change of public sentiment has taken place, if we are to judge from the resolutions and proceedings of great commercial conventions held in Manchester and Liverpool, during the present year, and the editorials of the London Times. This journal, not only unequivocally condemns the system which abrogated slavery in the British West India possessions, but advocates a return thereto, and the establishment of some such system in the East India possessions, by the transportation thither of African labor. So great has become the necessities of the world for cotton alone—which can only be produced, to any considerable extent, by slave labor, and in Southern climes—that the suspension of involuntary servitude, for a single year only, would cause convulsions in all the governments of the civilized world, the disastrous results of which, it would be beyond human ken to foresee. It is only necessary for us to be true to ourselves, to preserve our institutions, and to be a great and prosperous people. The Union is not with us of the South, “a paramount political good,” however much we may, and do, desire its continuance under a strict adherence to constitutional provisions and guarantees. When these can no longer be maintained—or when further aggression upon, or denial of our rights is practiced by a dominant political power at the North—we have everything to gain, and nothing to lose, “by disrupting every tie” that binds us to the Confederacy.

Since writing the body of this communication, the country has experienced one of those pecuniary revulsions, the natural consequence of an inflated paper currency. We now realize the force and correctness of the reasons urged by the statesmen of the past, in opposition to a general system of paper money. The admonitions of wisdom, and the disastrous experience of the past have alike failed to save us from the pecuniary disaster and ruin which have come upon the country. Sooner or late the inherent defects of banking must inevitably produce the same results. The bright expectations held out by the interested projectors of banks, supported by subsidized presses, now, as in all past time, prove the veriest delusions. All classes are the sufferers, in some degree, for the folly and wickedness of the projectors and managers of the scheme. Two of the banks, chartered by the State, have failed to comply with the terms of their charters, and refuse to redeem their bank notes in coin. While I fully acknowledge the unsoundness of a general system of banking, I am not prepared to advise extreme measures against these banks, which have only done that which sensible men must have expected them to do in emergencies like the present. I conceive it to be the duty of the Legislature, however, to require a resumption of specie payments at some early period—not later than May, 1858. I cannot refrain from impressing the necessity of so amending the bank charters, as to prohibit the issue of bills of a less denomination than five dollars, and the circulation of bills of foreign banks of a less amount. We owe it to that portion of our fellow citizens of the State, who do not handle large bills, to protect them from the imposition of a small note currency. Banks, it is said, are necessary for commercial transactions. If so, commerce does not require the use of such small notes as are now issued, and which drive out of common circulation the smaller coins—the want of which is now so seriously oppressive to the smaller dealer, and in all light transactions of daily occurrence.

Owing to the derangement of the finances, the Mobile and Ohio Railroad company has not paid the installment which was required of it at this time. Believing the true interest of the State would not be advanced by a resort to coercive measures at this time, I have not enforced the last remedy. I am of the opinion that the general good will be promoted by permitting the company to pay up the debt in short installments, until the whole amount is liquidated.

I know of no important measure of legislation that will be required at your hands, which will long detain you from the enjoyment of the more pleasant relations of private life. In a few days my connection with the legislation of the State will come to a close. It has been my fortune, in much of the legislation of the last four years, to differ with the legislative department. I endeavored to discharge my duty to the people of Alabama conscientiously, and have yet seen no cause to believe my course was injurious to the general welfare. With a lasting sense of gratitude to the people of the State, for the kindness and confidence they have ever extended to me, I shall retire from the obligations of official position.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. WINSTON.

4. Resolved, That under this state of facts, the agent should not be censured in stronger or more direct terms than the principal who advised and approved his acts, and that any condemnation by the President of those acts, will be regarded by the people of Alabama as adding insult to injury.

The memorial of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama respectfully represents, That there are within our borders inexhaustible fields of bituminous coal, found by actual experiment to be equal to any known in the United States, for fuel, generating steam, the manufacture of iron, and other purposes, for which bituminous coal is used. In juxtaposition may be found lime rock; also, iron ore to an indefinite extent, unsurpassed for its yield and the fine quality of iron made therefrom, and all crowned by a virgin forest.

These mines commencing at their southern point on the Alabama and Tennessee Rivers Railroad, stretch away through the counties of Shelby and Jefferson, and other counties, over a vast extent of the State, and underlying a large portion of the public lands within its limits. Water power is abundant, and the country noted for its healthfulness. One terminus of the above named railroad rests upon the Alabama river, by which means they are brought into immediate proximity with the Bay of Mobile and the Gulf of Mexico. There is also a railroad from the capitol of the State to Pensacola in progress, with every prospect of speedy completion, and this General Assembly looks forward to the not distant period, when a road will be extended through the tract of this region, which may challenge comparison with any portion of our country for its mineral wealth.

From these facts, and the fact that the coast of the Gulf of Mexico is in a more exposed condition than any portion of the United States coast, and has not received as much attention from the government as we think it deserves, we would respectfully call the attention of Congress to the importance of establishing an armory at some point as above indicated, for manufacturing canon and arms suitable for the equipment of troops of the United States service, and from the easy access to Mobile, New Orleans, Pensacola and Galveston, to any arrangement which may be deemed advisable for the establishment of a coal depot for the supply of mail steamers.

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be requested to urge this matter, at least if possible to obtain an examination by the government, and that a copy hereof be sent to each of them by the Governor of this State.

Mr. Patton from the joint select committee, appointed to examine the offices of comptroller and state treasurer, made the following

REPORT:

The joint committee of the two Houses of the General Assembly, appointed by the presiding officer of each House, as provided in section 34 of the Code, to examine the offices of comptroller and treasurer report,

That they commenced the examinations on the 13th, and closed on the 30th November, 1857. That they examined carefully all the books in the treasurer's office, from the 30th September, 1855, to 30th November, 1857, a period of two years and two months, and find them all to be correct. That they find the amount of receipts and disbursements, during the same time have been as follows:

Receipts during the fiscal year, ending 30th September, 1856.....	$798,003 46
Add balance on hand, 30th September, 1855...	1,193,732 43

	$2,425,631 13
Disbursements during the same period.....	790,359 33
	<hr/>
Balance in the treasury 30th September, 1857,	$1,635,271 80
Receipts from 30th September, to 30th November, 1857.....	37,857 97
	<hr/>
Making together the sum of.....	$1,673,129 77
Disbursements during the same period.....	25,051 02
	<hr/>
Showing a balance to be accounted for on 30th November, 1857, of.....	$1,648,078 75

To meet this balance, your committee counted with care all the moneys in the treasury on that day, and found that the same amounted to the said sum of..... $1,648,073 75

Consisting of the following description of funds, to-wit:

In notes of the State Banks and Branches.....	$1,134,054 00
“ “ “ Central Bank of Alabama.....	382,740 00
“ “ “ Northern Bank of Alabama....	21,726 00
“ “ “ Bank of Montgomery.....	8,597 00
In notes and certificates of the Bank of Mobile, and notes of the Southern Bank of Ala.....	65,642 17
In Gold.....	32,842 32
In Silver.....	2,477 26
	$1,648,078 75

Your committee next proceeded to the comptroller's office, and there examined all the books and vouchers of that department for the same period of time embraced in their examination of the treasurer's office, as aforesaid, by comparing the vouchers with the entries thereof in the books, carefully casting up the footings and testing the extension, all of which were found correct; and that all the warrants drawn during the same time were issued in pursuance of law. Your committee find that the amount of receipts and disbursements during the time embraced in the examination, as shown by the comptroller's books, were as follows:

Receipts during the fiscal year, ending 30th September, 1856.....	$798,003 46
Add balance on hand 30th September, 1855....	1,192,652 96
	<hr/>
	$1,990,656 42
Disbursments during the same period.....	486,867 52
	<hr/>
Balance on hand 30th September, 1856.....	$1,503,788 90
Receipts during fiscal year, ending 30th September, 1857.....	921,842 23
	<hr/>
	$2,425,631 13
Disbursements during the same time.....	790,416 33
	<hr/>
Showing a balance on 30th September, 1857..	$1,635,214 80
Receipts from 30th September to 30th November, 1857.....	37,857 97
	<hr/>
Making together the sum of.....	1,673,072 77
Disbursements during the same time.....	25,350 72
Balance to be accounted for Nov. 30th, 1857...	$1,647,722 05

The apparent discrepancy of $356 70 in the balances and disbursements, as shown in the comptroller's and treasurer's office, your committee find to be in consequence of the fact that warrants were then outstanding for the same amount, which, when presented and paid, will produce a perfect agreement between them.

Your committee would also report that the comptroller exhibited sundry packages, purporting to contain mutilated notes of the Bank of Montgomery, amounting to the sum of fifty-nine thousand three hundred and forty dollars, which notes had been cancelled, and in place thereof the same amount had been countersigned by the comptroller and delivered to said bank, as authorized by section 1419 of the Code.

Your committee fully concur with the comptroller in the recommendations in his biennial report, that provisions be made by law for the destruction of said mutilated notes.

In conclusion, your committee take pleasure in stating that whilst engaged in the tedious discharge of their duties the past month, the officers of the two departments were prompt in affording every aid to facilitate their labors, and the committee have no hesitation in saying that the confidence heretofore reposed in them has been fully justified by an unusual neatness of the records, and an able and faithful discharge of public duty.

R. M. PATTON, Ch'n Senate Com.

J. H. CALDWELL, Ch'n House Com.

The report was laid on the table, and 3300 copies ordered to be printed for the use of the Senate.

DECEMBER 16, 1857.

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Petrie.

Mr. President (Mr. Bullock in the chair) submitted the following protest:

The Senate having under consideration the bill to sanction the suspension of specie payments by the Central and Commercial Banks of Alabama, an amendment thereto was offered in the place of the third section of said bill, which had been stricken out. This amendment was offered by the Senator from Greene, which was in the following words, viz:

Be it further enacted, That the said Central Bank of Alabama and Commercial Bank of Alabama, respectively, shall each be required to receive its own notes in payment of any note, draft or bill of exchange, held by such bank or its agent, at the place where the same may be made payable in this State.

To this amendment, the Senator from Franklin offered as an amendment the following, by way of proviso, viz:

Provided, That the provisions of this section shall only apply to said banks during the period or periods said banks may suspend specie payments.

Which amendment of the Senator from Franklin was adopted, and against which I voted, and against which make this protest, and desire to place upon the journals my reasons for said vote:

I believe it was the clear expectation of the people of Alabama that the bank's notes, which should be put in circulation by the banks chartered by this State, should be at par in all portions of the State, and more especially in the great commercial emporium of the State, and that was the duty of the legislature in granting the charter, to have imposed such terms on the banks as to have secured the equal value of their bills in all parts of the State. Experience has, however, proven that this object of so great importance was not accomplished, and that in fact, at no time since the Central and Commercial Banks have been in operation, have their notes been at par in the city of Mobile; during the whole of their existence have the notes of both those banks been at a discount in Mobile. When said banks suspended specie payments, and thereby placed their corporate existence in the hands of the Legislature, and gave it the power to impose such additional restrictions on their charters as might be deemed advisable, and which experience might have proved to be proper to secure the people of the State against imposition and loss, from the currency which might be furnished by said banks, it appeared to this protestant, that it was the duty of the Legislature to engraft upon the charter of said banks, such amendments as would secure the people of Alabama against a depreciated and unequal currency. That object would have been secured, as this protestant believes, by the adoption of the amendment offered by the Senator from Greene. The simple and true operation of this amendment would have been that these banks would have been compelled to receive their own notes in payment of their own bills of exchange sent to Mobile for collection. Thus producing a demand in Mobile for their bank notes, and giving to them a value which they have not heretofore had. This proposition seemed to be so fair and reasonable and right to protestant, that it was a matter of surprise that it should be resisted. It seems to protestant very strange that a bank should, under any circumstances, refuse or object to receive its own bank bills in payment of a debt due to itself. This was all that was required of them by the amendment of the Senator from Greene, and would have been efficacious in giving a fair value to the bills of either of said banks in Mobile and elsewhere in the State.

The adoption of the amendment of the Senator from Franklin, to the amendment of the Senator from Greene, which limits the operation of this fair and beneficial provision to the short period of suspension, destroys, as protestant believes, nearly all the value and beneficial operation of the proposition submitted by the Senator from Greene. Protestant voted against the amendment of the Senator from Franklin, and asks to have this protest against said amendment, and these reasons for his vote thereon, placed on the journals.

(Signed,)

We join in the above protest:

Mr. Storrs, from the select committee, on the part of the two houses, to examine into and report the condition of the two and three per cent. funds, made the following

REPORT:

The joint select committee, to which was referred the subject of the two and three per cent funds, asks leave to report—

That before enquiring what amounts have been received by the State on account of these funds, and the appropriations made therefrom, it was thought proper to give a condensed statement of their origin, also the trusts and conditions upon which the State of Alabama received them from the general government, although not directly required by the resolutions under which this committee was raised.

The third proposition in the sixth section of the act passed by the Congress of the United States on the 2d day of March, 1819, "to enable the people of Alabama Territory to form a Constitution and State government, and for the admission of such State into the Union," is as follows: "That five per cent. of the nett proceeds of the public lands lying within said territory, and which shall be sold by Congress from and after the 1st day of September, in the year 1819, after deducting all expenses incident to the same, shall be reserved for making public roads and canals, and improving the navigation of rivers, of which three-fifths shall be applied to those objects within the State, under the direction of the legislature thereof; and two-fifths in the making of a road or roads leading to said State, under the direction of Congress."

The people of the territory, by their representatives assembled in convention at Huntsville, on the 5th July, 1819, under said act, to form themselves "into a free and independent State by the name of the State of Alabama, by ordinance adopted by said convention on the 2d August of the same year, declared irrevocable without the consent of the United States," surrendered to the general government all right and title to the unappropriated lands lying within this State, and for and in behalf of the people inhabiting this State, accepted the propositions offered by the act of Congress, under which they are assembled."

By the terms of this grant and acceptance, therefore, three-fifths of this five per cent fund was to be disposed of by the State government, and two-fifths by the general government, hence it is called the three and two per cent funds.

Thus they continued until 1841, when, by act of Congress of 4th September, the two per cent fund was relinquished to the State on the terms and conditions that "the whole of the said two per cent fund shall be faithfully applied, under the direction of the legislature of Alabama, to the connection by some means of internal improvement, of the navigable waters of the bay of Mobile with the Tennessee river, and to the construction of a continuous line of internal improvement from a point on the Chattahoochie river, opposite West Point, in Georgia, across the State of Alabama, in a direction to Jackson, in the State of Mississippi."

It is not questioned that Congress had the right thus to change the direction of the two per cent fund, as the legislature of this State, by an act approved 29th December, 1841, accepted the relinquishment on the terms and conditions in the 17th section of said act of Congress expressed, and declared that "so far as relates to the faithful application of said two per cent fund to the purposes aforesaid, this act is hereby declared unalterable, without the consent of Congress."

Thus, by these acts, the State becomes sole trustee for the "faithful application" of both funds—for the three per cent, as originally granted and received, the two per cent on the terms and conditions imposed by said act of Congress, and accepted by the State.

THREE PER CENT FUND.

Your committee first examined into the condition and amount of the three per cent fund.

By virtue of the 3d section of the act of 20th December, 1823, "to establish the Bank of the State of Alabama," this fund became a part of the capital stock of the Bank ; said act declared that "the faith and credit of the State are hereby pledged to supply any deficiency in the funds hereinafter specifically pledged, and to give indemnity for all losses arising from such deficiency," and further, that "the moneys which may arise from the three per cent fund granted to this State by the Congress of the United States, shall constitute a part of the capital of said Bank, and shall be so vested, as the same may be received by this State; and the nett proceeds or banking dividends of said capital shall be applied to the making of roads and canals, and improving the navigation of the rivers within this State, or be so vested as to augment the capital, until such application shall be directed by law."

Under this act the whole amount received on account of this fund, up to the 9th June, 1841, was paid into the Bank. It was found that the amount, as stated by the Bank, and by the United States treasury department, does not entirely harmonize, and the committee was finally relieved from expending any more time in the fruitless endeavor to reconcile them, by ascertaining that the whole matter of this fund, from the 1st September, 1819, to the 31st December, 1848, had been revised and adjusted through J. F. Jackson, appointed agent under joint resolutions of 31st January, 1850, and a large amount was paid to the State under this adjustment previous to the statement from the United States treasurer.

Satisfied, therefore, that the amount received by the State as stated from the books of the treasury department at Washington is correct, we herewith present a tabular statement (No. 1) showing, in detail, the amount paid to the State on account of this fund, and the time when paid, also the sums appropriated from this fund. From this it will be seen that the whole amount received is.....$590,185 03

Paid to State Bank up to 9th June, 1841, whilst the recipient and controlling the same.....$353,831 99

From that period the government has paid on account of same, as made up to 17th September, 1857..... 236,353 04--590,185 03

Under the act of 20th December, 1823, to establish the Bank, it appears dividends were declared and credited on the books of the Bank to this fund, from 9th November, 1826, to 8th
November, 1834, amounting to.... 104,858 30—104,858 30

Total.....$695,043 33

After the last named date, no more dividends were declared to the credit of this fund, because by the act of 10th January, 1835, the profits of the State Bank and Branches (exceeding the expenses of the State government and the interest on the State bonds,) on all funds excepting the university fund, were "set apart," and denominated a "sinking fund."

The late comptroller says, and so we find, that "whatever dividends were declared on the three per cent fund after the passage of the act of 1835, were carried to the credit of the sinking fund, and the appropriations made to internal improvements from it, were debited to this fund. Thus, of the profits credited to the sinking fund, the following appropriations for objects of internal improvements have been made and paid by the Bank, viz:

By act of 19th December, 1847, for improving the navigation of the Coosa river.....	$30,000 00

The act of 4th February, 1850, appropriating $100,000 "for the purpose of making a continuous and unbroken chain of rail-road from the Alabama to the Tennessee river, divides the route into three sections, and the money is "allotted pro rata to said three sections, according to distance."

The first section, from the Alabama to the Coosa river, in the direction of Talladega.....87,068 miles.
The second sections from that point to Gadsden....82,003 miles.

As required by the 3d and 6th sections of said act, bonds have been given and certificates of stock issued to the State for the entire amount so received by said companies. To that extent, therefore, she is interested as a stockholder, incurring, however, no liabilities.

TWO PER CENT FUND.

By the third section of the act of 29th December, 1841, "accepting this fund," the cashier of the State Bank was authorized to receive the same on special deposit as it fell due. Then under the act of 9th February, 1852, the state treasurer became the receiver, and the State treasury liable for the same.

The amount received from the United States to November 12th, 1842, $119,207 71, was, by joint resolution of 10th February, 1843, invested in United States treasury notes at 6 per cent. interest, and then by virtue of the act of 16th January, 1844, said cashier converted said notes into United States five per cent. stocks.

From these investments, including 4 per cent. premium on $60,400 00, transferred to the Montgomery and West Point Railroad company, $2,416 00, after deducting charges for interest accumulated, premium and brokerage, this fund has accumulated to $74,097 49

The following appropriations have been made out of this fund :
To the Montgomery and West Point Railroad company, by act of 23d January, 1845..... 116,782 64

This amount was loaned for ten years, with interest only for the last five years of the loan, at five per cent. per annum.

This loan was extended by act of 17th February, 1854, for five years, at same rate of interest, and then to the Alabama and Mississippi Railroad company, on the same terms as originally loaned to the Montgomery and West Point Railroad company, which carries this loan forward to February, 1870, a period of 25 years from date of first loan, and drawing interest for 15 years of that period.

road company, by act of 9th February, '52 and paid 27th February, 1855.....78,036 28

unappropriated portion of the two per cent fund," 9,477 47 to Jackson, Mississippi..... 226,260 11

By act approved 4th February, 1850, one-half of the "two per cent fund, with its accumulations, together with so much of what the State may be entitled to on account of said fund, from any source, at the passage of this act," was appropriated "for the purpose of making a continuous and unbroken chain of railroad from the Alabama to the Tennessee river.

vill Plank Road company for $13,386 93, is not included in either of the foregoing statements, for the reason that the same was refunded 21st January, 1856.... $10,387 93

And 12th May, 1857..... 3,000 00 13,386 93 as is shown in table No. 2.

This amount added to the above, would make the total correspond with table No. 2, $481,227 88.

It was shown in the former part of this report, that the three sections of the line of railroads from the Alabama to the Tennessee river, had received from the three per cent. fund $11,- 511 59, more than seemed to be covered by the act of 4th February, 1850, and that said roads had issued stock to the State for the same.

From the above statement of appropriations from the two per cent. fund, it also appears that, whilst the route across the State in a direction to Jackson Mississippi, has received	$226,260 11

The route from the Alabama to the Tennessee river.....	179,372 28

Showing an excess over one-half against the first route, of.....	46,887 83

For this the roads on that line have given bond, and are paying interest.

It might be borne in mind too, that the fund has been increased from the interest paid by one of those roads upon loans from this fund, to the amount of $40,873 91.

The province of the committee only extends to a suggestion of these facts. It is for the legislature to determine whether these over-payments shall be legalized, or the companies required to refund the proportion each has received.

From this review, it will be seen the State has disposed of all the two per cent. as yet received, unless it is the balance of $46,357 48, now in the treasury, and has thus far, with that high sense of honor which has ever characterized her, instead of hoarding, promptly carried out her pledged faith when she became the recipient of this fund. At the same time she has been already largely the gainer, by increasing the receipts into her treasury, as well as the facilities of transportation and communication to her citizens—stimulating their industry and opening new fields to their enterprize. Though the amount is small compared with the cost of any great work, these funds are unquestionably the basis upon which some of our works of internal improvements rest.

The committee has traced these funds through all the acts of the legislature, from the origin of the State up to the present time, and if any act bearing materially upon them has escaped attention, it has not arisen from a want of careful examination.

The State is the trustee for these funds—is she not, by well established legal principles, equally as liable for the interest upon the amount received as for the principle itself? Upon this suggestion an interest account was commenced, but finally abandoned, because it would have taken too much time from other duties, and because it was concluded best to leave this question to be settled by the legislature, in such manner as should be deemed just.

In the tables attached, taken from the books in comptroller's office, it will be noticed the amounts paid both from the three and two per cent funds to the Alabama and Tennessee River Railroad company, and to the Tennessee and Coosa Railroad company, are put down as "loaned." In this report the word "appropriated" is used, as these companies are only required to give bond for the faithful application of the money so paid, and to issue stock to the State for the same, as before shown.

Mr. Fleming presented the following protest; which was ordered to be spread on the journal :

PROTEST.

I respectfully ask leave to enter upon the journal of the Senate my solemn protest against the passage of the bill to provide for annual sessions of the Legislature :

First, I regard the act as unconstitutional; the plain and declared intention of the amendment adopted in 1846, and ratified by the people, was to fix by this change biennial sessions. The question of returning to that system, should, before becoming the law, be submitted to the people.

Secondly, my honest convictions are, that it will result in an accumulation of our State expenses, proving a wasteful sacrifice of the tax payers money, and not promote the general good of the country.

Thirdly, I am satisfied no member of the present General Assembly can believe for a moment, that he was elected for two successive sessions, and the existing law expressly forbids, as I conceive, the provisions of this bill taking effect until the second Monday of November, in the year 1859, unless convened at an earlier day, by order of the executive.

Which are respectfully submitted.

WM. FLEMING.

I join in the above protest, because I believe the measure of doubtful constitutionality and expediency.

J. M. CALHOUN.

For the reasons set forth in Mr. Calhoun's protest, we assign the same.

A. B. GRIFFIN,
W. WOODWARD.

For the three reasons of Mr. Fleming's protest, I assign the same.

J. S. STORRS.

I join the above protest upon the ground that I believe that by the constitution, representatives are elected for but one year.

ALEX. B. CLITHERALL.

Mr. Lindsay, from the committee on Education, reported adversely on the bill to render more effectual the system of free public schools in the State of Alabama, approved 14th day of February, 1856.

Mr. Rowe submitted the following

MINORITY REPORT :

The minority of the committee on Education, to whom was referred the bill to be entitled "An act to amend a bill to render more efficient the system of free public schools in the State of Alabama," approved on the 14th of February, 1856, dissent from the report of the majority, and ask leave to make a minority report, setting forth the reasons for their action.

The bill approved 14th February, 1856, to render more efficient the system of free public schools, and under which our public schools are now managed, needs amendment in several important particulars.

1st. In paying the townships only 6 per centum annually on their respective 16th section funds, when at law and equity they are entitled to 8 per centum annually, which is hereinafter referred to in this report more fully.

2d. In the distribution of the money raised by taxation among the several counties, so that the money due to the several townships in the State shall not be consolidated in part with the money otherwise distributed to them by the State, which will be more fully explained hereafter.

3d. In causing a county superintendent to be elected for each county, which upon an average costs the people of the different counties an aggregate amount ranging from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars annually. Supposing that each county superintendent receives $300, the people in the 52 counties in the State have paid them annually the enormous sum of $15,600 for services that the people of the different counties would have much preferred to have attended to themselves, or to have had their elected trustees in each township attend to for them. The expense of electing the county superintendents every two years on the 1st Monday of May, is an additional expense to the people not included in the above calculation.

4th. In placing over the teachers chosen by the trustees of the different townships a county superintendent, paid as above stated, with power and authority to examine and license the teachers before the trustees can employ them, and with power at any time "of annulling any license granted by him or his predecessors," although the teacher may be doing good service, and although the trustees employing them may be well pleased, and although every man in the township might protest, yet, by the law, the county superintendent is vested with the power of removal, a power inconsistent with the spirit of a free people, and not authorized except where the masses of the people are superstitious, ignorant, and careless of the education of their children. No officer with such arbitrary power should be placed over a free people to dictate to them or their school trustees in the matter of educating their own children. And on this point the minority of your committee think that if the county superintendents have exercised this arbitrary power of removal, or of refusing to license such teachers as the trustees may select for their respective township schools, then this office should be abolished. And on the other hand, if the county superintendents have left that matter to the discretion of the trustees of the various townships, it follows that this office is unnecessary, because the other chief duty of drawing the money for the different townships may as well be performed by the trustees.

The present school law in the 1st section, 1st article, provides for the distribution of the fund, by paying "to each township of the State a sum to be ascertained by multiplying one dollar and fifty cents by the number of children in such township within the educational age, and deducting from the result the sum annually received by such township from the sale or lease of its 16th section." And in the same section, the law provides for the payment of 6 per centum annually on their respective 16th section funds.

The minority of your committee think that the townships are legally and equitably entitled to 8 per centum annually from the State on their respective 16th section funds.

They also think that after paying to the various 16th sections the annual interest of 8 per centum on their respective 16th section funds, the balance of the appropriation by the State should be divided out among all the counties of the State according to the number of children within the educational age within each county in the State. And that then the appropriations thus made to every county should be divided out within such county, first giving to the poor townships within the county, and thereby in some measure make them as near as the funds appropriated as aforesaid to each can do, equal with the rich townships within such county.

The present school law in part consolidates the 16th section funds with the funds otherwise appropriated, and under its operation, if a township is entitled to one dollar and a half for each child within the educational age from its 16th section fund, then such township is entitled to no part of the other appropriation made by the State. A provision of the law clearly unconstitutional, as the minority of your committee think, because the 16th section fund belongs to the inhabitants of each township in perpetuity, as has been decided by the supreme court of Alabama, in the case of Long & Long vs. Brown et al., 4th Ala. Rep. 622, and their right to it cannot be divested either directly or indirectly.

The 4th paragraph, 1st section, of the present school law indirectly divests them of their rights to the 16th section fund in some cases; for instance, what difference does it make under the law to a township whose 16th section fund yields them just one dollar and a half to each child within the educational age?—None; because if the 16th section fund of another township yields nothing, such township receives precisely one dollar and a half from the State to each child within the educational age within the township. So that under the operation of the present school law, a township having a 16th section fund, yielding one dollar and a half to each child therein within the educational age, is in no better condition than a township having no 16th section fund, or of a township the inhabitants of which have squandered or have sold their 16th section land for comparatively nothing.

Now, if the minority of your committee are right in believing that the interest accruing on the 16th section fund belongs to the inhabitants of each township and cannot be divested, and our own supreme court is right in deciding that such funds belong to them in perpetuity, they are clear in the opinion that the present school law is unconstitutional in the distribution of the funds in the manner above illustrated. In the Bill of Rights, Constitution of Alabama, 1st section, 1st article, it is declared that no man, or set of men, are entitled to exclusive privileges but in consideration of public service. Yet, here we see one set of men, the inhabitants of one township, having no 16th section fund, (al- they may be wealthy) enjoying the exclusive privilege of having their children educated in part out of the public treasury of the State, while the inhabitants of another township having a 16th section fund amounting to one dollar and a half for each child within the educational age, which sum was donated to them by the Federal Government, and for which they are not in any way obliged to the State, and which is now a bona fide debt due them by the State, receives not one cent from the State of Alabama. Yet they pay their equal portion of the taxes with all the other inhabitants of the State. And under the present law they are forced by the State to pay taxes to assist in educating the children of men in another township for the poor privilege of receiving from their own State a debt long due to them. The bill under consideration is designed to alter this feature in the law by paying to the different townships what is legally and equitably due to them from the State, and to divide the money otherwise appropriated among the counties of the State according to the number of children within the educational age in each.— And to prevent the giving money to some rich townships which already receive from their 16th section fund more than sufficient to educate the children in such townships, the bill provides that the money given to each county shall be first appropriated among the poor townships in each county, and thus bring them more on an equality with the rich townships within the county. This will obviate the constitutional objection and at the same time do justice to all the inhabitants of each county. The inhabitants of the rich townships thus receive no money from the State directly, except their 16th section fund, but are indirectly benefitted, because the poor townships in their county receive their portions, and are thus educated; and as the people of the whole county are educated, in a corresponding ratio will the whole county be relieved from expense in building jails, hospitals, paying jurors, &c., and other necessary county expenses for the punishment and prevention of disorders in the county. It is generally, or we might say universally conceded, that the townships of the State are legally entitled, respectively, to the interest accruing on their 16th section funds, and hence the minority of your committee need not refer to the acts of Congress by which the same was donated to them. They think that the counties respectively are equitably entitled to their proportion of the school funds donated by the State according to the number of children within their county, exclusive of the 16th section funds due the townships within each county; among many other reasons, because the inhabitants in some townships have sold their 16th sections for such sums as manifested a disposition to divert from the true purpose the lands given, and ought not now to tax other portions of the State, and the inhabitants of other townships, to pay for their folly.

While the people of some townships held on to their 16th sections until they realized a handsome amount for them, and now have sufficient funds to educate, for the most part, the children within their townships, as citizens of their respective counties should not be deprived of receiving for the poor in their own county their share of the appropriations made by the State; and they also refer to the annexed tabular statement, (which is asked to be received as a part of their report, with leave to refer thereto,) to show that the counties wherein the townships having valuable 16th section funds, pay nearly all the nett amount of the taxes to the State. Charging each county with the amount of money received from the State by way of paying each county's share of the necessary State expenses, appropriations, pay to members, &c., &c., it will be found that the burden of meeting the school appropriations falls upon but comparatively few counties of the State. By an examination of the annexed tabular statement, which has been taken from the official documents and records of this State, it will be seen that fifteen counties, composed of Blount, Coffee, Covington, DeKalb, Fayette, Winston, Marion, Marshall, Randolph, Walker, Shelby, St. Clair, Jefferson, Jackson and Cherokee, paid taxes in 1856, $51,983 92, and received in 1856, from the treasury for schools within their limits, exclusive of the 16th section funds belonging to the townships within their borders, the sum of $61,291 47, being $9,297 55 more than they paid into the treasury for that year, and having 51,610 children within the educational age. And for the same year fifteen counties, composed of Mobile, Montgomery, Dallas, Greene, Marengo, Macon, Perry, Barbour, Madison, Lowndes, Russell, Chambers, Sumter, Franklin and Tuskaloosa, paid taxes in 1856, $394,762 74, nearly two thirds of the whole State tax for that year, (the State tax being $634,360 85,) and the same counties received from the State in 1856, for schools within their limits, exclusive of the 16th section funds belonging to the townships within their borders, the sum of $45,112 12, having paid into the treasury the enormous sum of $349,650 50 more than they received, and having 51,591 children within the educational age. These facts induce the minority of your committee to believe that no injustice could be done to the first named fifteen counties, by paying to the second named fifteen counties, their share of the school appropriation, exclusive of the sixteenth section funds belonging to the different townships within them. By applying the same tests and granting the same privileges to the other twenty-two counties of the State, it will be demonstrated that no injustice will be done to any one of them by paying out the school money on the plan laid down in the bill under consideration and as above indicated. The bill does not propose to take away one cent that is now given to them under the present law, but does full justice to some portions of the State not now receiving it. Another calculation shows that the amount received by the first named fifteen counties, composed of Blount and the fourteen others, adding the 16th section funds to the amounts otherwise paid to them, makes the aggregate sum that the secounties receive from the State, $68,879 98, being $16,-896 06, more than they collectively pay into the State treasury in taxes, while the amount thus received by the second named fifteen counties, composed of Mobile, and the fourteen others, adding the 16th section funds to the amount otherwise paid to them, makes the aggregate sum that these counties receive from the State, $97,289 35, being $297,473 29 less than they collectively pay into the treasury in taxes.

The State accepted the trust of the 15th section lands, for the different townships, upon the same legal and equitable principles of all other trusts, and are as much governed by the terms of the trust thus accepted, as any other trustee. The lands were donated by an act of Congress on the 2nd March, 1819. On the 2nd March, 1827, Congress authorized the State to sell the 16th section land "and to invest the money arising from the sale thereof, in some productive fund, the proceeds of which shall be forever applied" under the direction of the legislature, for the use and support of schools within the districts of country for which the lands were sold, which sale was to be made with the consent of the inhabitants of the townships. And no funds of one township to be distributed to another.

In 1828, on 15th January, an act was passed by the legislature ordering a vote to be taken, and gave to the inhabitants of the townships a right to vote upon the solitary question of "sale or no sale" of their respective 16th section land. The lands were to be sold on one, two, and three years credit, at 6 per centum per annum interest, and the notes were to be placed in the State Bank, which was to collect them, and after being collected, was to pay to the inhabitants of the townships to whom the money belonged, 6 per cent. interest, quarterly. The Bank belonging exclusively to the State of Alabama, which was responsible in every way for it. The money remained in the Bank until 1848, when the legislature passed another act, authorizing the issuance to the respective townships, certificates showing the amount due to each from the State, on account of its 16th section fund. And the State, its commissioner and trustee, took possession of these funds. The act provided for paying them 6 per cent. interest semi-annually. In 1856 the present school law was passed, providing for paying them on this fund 6 per cent. interest annually. Thus, it will be seen, that the State, through her legislature, not only did not "invest the money arising from the sale" of the land in some productive fund, as by the terms of the act of Congress of 2nd of March, 1827, she was directed to do ; but that the funds were used for the benefit of the State, and have continually, year after year, lowered the rate of interest, which she first commenced to pay, although the rate first established was lower than the legal rate of interest that is required to be paid by one citizen to another on a debt due ; and which the State became responsible for, as trustee, as soon as the trust fund was used by her contrary to the terms of the trust. It is a well settled law that a trustee using funds contrary to the terms of the trust, or for his own use, becomes liable to the cestui que trust for legal interest, or for the profits of the funds used at the election of the cestui que trust. If the State can, under these circumstances, force the inhabitants of the townships to take 6 per cent. interest annually on the amount due them by the State, the minority of your committee can see no reason why the State could not still decrease the interest to five, four, three, two, or one per cent. interest annually, or lower, and thus rid herself of a debt, and by one legislative enactment, free herself from trouble hereafter, or liability for the same. An act which the minority of your committee believe the State ought not and never will sanction. The general articles of the bill were designed to remedy the objections named in our present school law, and they hope for these, and other reasons, that the bill will be considered and passed, and that thereby the present school law will be amended in the manner indicated.

JOHN ROWE,
H. B. THOMPSON.

Mr. Patton presented the report of the joint committee of conference with the commissioner and trustee :

The joint committee, to whom was referred the biennial report of John Whiting, commissioner and trustee to settle the affairs of the State Bank and Branches, have had the same under consideration, and instructed me to report :

That they first examined the cash account of the commissioner for receipts and disbursements of money by him since the settlement of his account by the joint committee of the last session to the present time, and found that the balance on hand at the date of the last settlement, as certified to by the joint committee, was$ 171,683 40

Since which time his receipts from all sources have been..... 1,575,299 52

Making a total of..... 1,746,982 92

The expenditures, in payment of interest, redemption of State bonds, remitting for the bonds due 1st January, and otherwise, have been..... 1,328,007 34

Leaving a balance at this date of..... $418,975 58

The account containing, in detail, the above items is herewith submitted. Each item of the account has been carefully examined, and each verified by a proper voucher, or satisfactorily explained. Your committee next examined the accounts of collections and outstanding circulation, and found them properly stated in the report of the commissioner and trustee.

They next proceeded to examine the accounts of bonds redeemed and outstanding. Upon counting those redeemed since the last session, they were found to correspond in description and amount with the statements in the account.

The annexed tabular statements show at a glance the amount of bonds yet unredeemed, as well as those heretofore redeemed. They also show the annual interest to be provided for, and when it is payable.

From the tabular statement it will be seen that the outstanding bonds on 1st of November, 1855, were.....$4,231,888 88
 Redeemed since then, by purchase..... 133,777 77

$4,098,111 11

Redeemed by payment, remitted for..... 575,111 11

Leaving of bonds to be provided for.....$3,523,000 00

To meet which, in part, the State holds Virginia and North Carolina 6 per cent. bonds..... 662,000 00

To complete the payment of the bonds due on 1st January inst. the commissioner borrowed in New York $390,000, as has been reported to you by him. Your committee believe the entire balance now on hand in the office of the commissioner will be available in time to discharge the notes given for that loan. At an early day of the session your committee were appointed as a special committee to confer with, and advise, the commissioner and trustee. In that conference he brought to their notice two very important matters of public interest. The first was the difficulty of paying our bonds due in London on 1st January. That, as you are informed, was subsequently arranged, and the money remitted to pay those bonds. The other matter was the suspension of the firm of Robb, Hallett & Co., New York, through whom the bonds due 1st January were to have been paid. At the time of the suspension of that firm, they had on deposit, of funds belonging to the State, $172,025 78. Your committee found that the commissioner had taken steps to secure the debt, and soon after their appointment had an interview with Mr. Robb, the senior of the firm. The position of the matter required great caution, to avoid loss. Your committee are pleased to be able to say they are now satisfied that the debt is safe, and will be realized in time to meet the liabilities before referred to. The commissioner exhibited to your committee the certificate of the Governor, state treasurer, comptroller, and secretary of state, that the blank impressions of the notes of the Branch Bank at Montgomery had been destroyed, as required by the statute. And also, the receipt of the state treasurer for the State bonds redeemed and included in the account of the commissioner at the last session, to be registered in conformity to law.

Your committee concur in the suggestion of the commissioner, to appoint an agent to collect the amount retained by the General Government on the claim of the State against the Republic of Texas. And also, to transfer to the office of the superintendent of education the notes, books, &c., pertaining to the 16th section school fund.

The commissioner has in his possession, as reported, several packages containing money found in the vault of the State Bank, and marked as special deposits. Your committee recommend that the money be deposited in the State treasury, with such explanatory entries as will identify it, if ever called for. He also, has packages of half notes which have been redeemed by the State banks. Your committee recommend that they be deposited in the State treasury.

Your committee take pleasure in bearing testimony to the able, faithful, and efficient manner in which the commissioner and trustee has conducted the financial interests of the State during his term of office. A few years since the State was burthened with a debt of nearly $10,000,000, paying annually nearly a half million of interest. From the proceeds of the unfortunate State Bank and Branches, by careful management of the present commissioner and his predecessor, much of this debt has been paid, and the 1st of July of this year will, in all probability, find the State with only about $2,800,000 of outstanding bonds, with an annual interest of less than $150,000.— And for the accomplishment of this last named purpose we have thought proper to recommend the continuance of the commissioner and trustee, for the special purpose of finally settling the unadjusted matters connected with the State debt now in his hands. And your committee feel gratified in saying that this confidence in his capability and faithfulness to the interests of the State is of the highest character.

To carry out the recommendations contained in this report, your committee instruct me to report the accompanying bill, and recommend its passage.

R. M. PATTON,
Chairman of Senate Committee.
WM. G. JONES,

And the Senate adjourned until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

JANUARY 28, 1858.

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. Clitherall submitted the following

PROTEST:

I protest against the action of the Senate, by which I was on yesterday deprived of my right to vote on the motion of the senator from Greene, for the previous question on the bill then pending.

The facts are these: I was in my seat and did not vote when my name was called by the secretary. After the call was completed, but before the vote was announced, I requested the secretary to call my name, that I might vote.

The President directed the secretary not to call my name upon the ground that I had waived my right to vote, by failing or refusing to do so when my name was called. From this decision I appealed, and the Senate, by a decided majority, sustained the President's decision.

The question is, had I a right to vote under the above statement of facts. The 12th rule of the Senate is as follows:

"Every senator who shall be present when a question is put, shall vote, unless the Senate, for special reasons, excuse him, but no senator shall vote on any question unless he be within the bar of the Senate when he votes; and when any question is taken by ayes and noes, and a senator who has been absent returns before the question is decided, he shall be privileged to make enquiry of the subject before the Senate and record his vote without discussion."

The seventh joint rule of the two Houses, when in convention, is as follows:

"Each senator and representative shall answer from his seat, when his name is called in order by the secretary of the Senate or the clerk of the House, and any senator or representative who shall fail or refuse to vote when his name is called, shall be considered as having waived his right to vote, and shall not afterwards be allowed to do so."

It will be seen that the joint rule expressly declares that a senator or representative failing or refusing to vote, when the name is called, waives his right, and shall not afterwards be permitted to vote.

The rule of the Senate contains no such provision, and by every recognized rule of construction, the expression of this provision in the one rule, excludes its existence by implication in the other from which it is exceeded in terms.

Again, the rule of the Senate declares that every senator present shall vote when a question is put, unless excused by the Senate. If the decision of the President and the Senate in my case be correct, any senator may nullify this rule, by failing to vote when his name is called, and if by failing to vote he waives his right to vote, can the Senate compel him under the 12th rule, if he has, by his waiver, lost his right to vote? Can one be compelled lawfully to do that which he has no right to do? The uniform practice of the Alabama legislature sustains my position, and no instance can be cited in which, under like circumstances, a senator or representative has been deprived of his right to, and obstructed in his duty of voting upon every question before the House of which he is a member.

A few days since the senator from Russell demanded the yeas and nays upon a certain question, was in his seat when his name was called, and failed to vote, the senator from Lawrence raised the point that under the 12th rule the senator was compelled to vote unless excused, the point was sustained by the chair, and the senator was required to vote. In his case and mine the facts were the same—in the application of the law how diametrically opposed.

Believing that the action of the Senate establishes a wrong precedent, and was injurious to my rights as a senator, I respectfully enter this my protest, and ask my constitutional right of having it placed upon the journal of the Senate.

(Signed)

ALEX. B. CLITHERALL.

FRIDAY, February 5, 1858.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Shaver.

The following protest from the Governor, was read before the Senate, and ordered to be entered upon the journals :

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 4th, 1858. }

Gentlemen of the Senate :

A bill "to be entitled an act to incorporate the Shelby County Iron Manufacturing company," has been approved by me; but as there are serious objections, in my mind, to the last section of said bill, I desire in this way to protest against such legislation.

The restriction of the private rights of a portion of our citizens for the private interests of another portion, is at war with the genius of our government, and republican principles. Private rights may be restricted for the public good, but never to promote individual or private interests.

The prohibition of the sale of ardent spirits, contained in this bill, is for the purpose of promoting the private interests of the stockholders in the Iron Manufacturing company, and not for the public good.

It was my intention to withhold my sanction; but having been assured that nearly all the territory, covered by the prohibiting clause in the bill, belongs to the company, and that but three or four other persons are affected by it, and that they desire the restriction, I have concluded, for this reason, to approve it; as its other provisions are important, and tend to develop the resources of the State, at a point and in a manner much to be desired.

I have yielded my objections to acts of incorporation containing provisions suppressing the sale of intoxicating liquors, so far as to approve several bills intended to protect colleges, schools and churches, on the ground that the restriction is for the public good. All such legislation, however, is of doubtful policy.

My object in sending this communication to the Senate, is to make it known, that my approval of the bill under consideration is not to be understood as establishing a precedent, which I shall feel under obligations to follow; for I never can assent to the principle that private rights may be restricted by law for the private interest of any man, or company of men.

Respectfully,

A. B. MOORE.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate are due to the other officers of the Senate, for the faithful manner in which they have discharged the duties of their offices, respectively.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted; whereupon,

Mr. Calhoun responded as follows:

SENATORS:

I feel deeply impressed with the uninterrupted kindness, consideration and forbearance which have been extended to me by you all in the discharge of those duties which were imposed upon me by the office I have held. I entered upon its duties with unfeigned reluctance; but, cheered by your kindness and forbearance, my labors have been pleasant and agreeable. For this, gentlemen, I beg of you to receive my grateful acknowledgements. You have been pleased, too, to express now your approval of the manner in which I have discharged the duties of your presiding officer.

I have not words to express the feelings which fill my heart. These things have made an impression on me not soon to be forgotten; and, till the pulse of life shall cease to beat, will be remembered and cherished with pleasure and pride, and I trust will encourage me in the proper performance of those duties which may devolve upon me as a citizen during the few more years which may be allowed.

I have endeavored to be kind, courteous and impartial; If I have failed in any of these, in or out of the chair, it has been unintentional. If, however, from any such failure, I have given the slightest wound to any Senator, I entreat him to banish it from his memory, when I assure him that it was unintentional and deeply regretted.

In closing this session, while we are about to separate, to return to our homes, our families and our constituents, take with you my warmest wishes for the health, happiness and continued prosperity of each and all of you. I invoke for each of you the smiles of Heaven, of a happy family and of approving constituents.

Farewell, Senators and Officers—to me a painful, heartfelt farewell, to each and all of you.

I pronounce the Senate adjourned sine die.

J. M. CALHOUN,

President of the Senate.

J. H. PHELAN,

Secretary.
